 Re NIEHS IRB
 Date July 1, 1994
 From Project office (Rogan)

We have provisional clearance from the NIEHS IRB. The provision is that the consent forms be re-written. As a product of my negotiations with them, I wrote a "core" set of documents. They agreed that if this material was included in each of your documents, either verbatim or with minor changes in person, each site could add any material peculiar to their needs. This extra material could be substantive, such as the amount of time necessary to clean a house, or issues surrounding relocation, or it could be technical, having to do with lay-out or heading required by the specific local IRB.

My offer to each of you is this. Attached are the documents cleared at NIEHS. If you wish, I will work with the forms that I now have from each of you to incorporate the "core" wording. I will FAX them to you, and, if you approve, submit them here. If you want to do the revision, I will be happy to work with you, or you can simply send it to me, with any explanation you think necessary, and I will resubmit your revision in the form that you wish. No matter the process, the NIEHS IRB must approve the documents before they are used.

I am enclosing my submission cover memos, so you know what went on between me and them. I also enclose the provisional clearance from the Chair, NIEHS IRB. If you wish me to revise, let me know INSTANTLY. If you are going to revise, I need the documents as soon as you can get them to me.

I have your documents and, of course, my documents on disk. If you wish, I will e-mail mine to you, or I will send you a disk express mail with my documents in WordPerfect.

The Spanish version had some translation problems, according to the Spanish speaker on the NIEHS IRB. I think we need to get the English version first, and then get a good translation. I cannot offer the service of translation, but the Spanish speaker on the NIEHS IRB wants to see the revision and would be willing to offer comments.
